Art Unit: 3736

1. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

2. Claims 13-17 are provisionally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 11-15 of copending Application No. 09/712,563. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Green et al '195.

Green et al discloses a method and apparatus for dispensing seeds and spacers providing a loader having seed magazine receiving and locating means and a spacer magazine receiving and locating means, the seed magazine and spacer magazine are mounted in the loader and form a path to and through an outlet, and uses a plunger to dispense either a seed or spacer.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Green et al in view of Taylor et al.

Green et al discloses the claimed method except for the spacers being a bioabsorbable material and the spacers and seeds packaged in a sterile environment. Taylor et al discloses the use of radioactive seeds and spacers and teaches that it is known to make the spacers out of a bioabsorbable material (column 6, lines 56-60) and to provide for sterile packaging (column 2, lines 43-46).
